THE HOWARD LAW STUDENTS' SMOKER.

An Enjoyable Time at Gray's.

The smoker given last Thursday evening, May 11, by the Junior Classmen of Howard University Law Department proved a notable event from both a social and literary standpoint.

The spacious banquet hall at Gray's, the silvery strains of the electric band, the sumptuous repast, the jolly appearance of classmen and their guests, gave a fascinating effect to the occasion.

The committee spared nothing in making this one of the most delightful treats of the scholastic year. The supper was interspersed with a unique and instructive program. Mr. J. E. Roundtree presided with such skill and precision that he at once takes rank among our best toastmasters and parliamentarians.

During the first course of the repast, which included bisque of clams, aux croûtons, baked rice shad, potatoes a la Julienne, and Roman punch, Mr. John W. Robinson in an address made a vivid comparison of ancient and modern history in treating the subject, "Why We Are Here."

Mr. Henry E. Dunn, with equal zeal and enthusiasm, discussed in a most scholarly manner "The Relative Merits of the Quiz and Lecture Methods of Teaching Law."

During the second course, which consisted of chicken croquettes, French peas, and snowflake potatoes, Mr. P. C. Reed received great applause while discussing the subject, "Negro Lawyer and His Relation to American Life."

Mr. William H. Martin swayed the audience at will, so fine were the distinctions in his discourse on "The Necessity of a College Training for the Preparation of the Legal Profession."

We make special mention of Mr. Martin because we believe that in him is an extravagant gift of intellect that is destined to make of him either an able lawyer or a great poet, for the recital of his original poem, "Roll On," demonstrated his exceptional ability as the coming poet.

The third course was a combination salad. While it was being served Mr. P. S. Jefferson sang, in a purely Bohemian air, a solo entitled "The Waves of the Turbulent Deep."

Mr. Jefferson was at his best in this song, as well as in the response made in reply to the eloquent Mr. J. H. Clinton.

Mr. Marion F. Harris discussed somewhat at length the subject, "Would the Election of United States Senators be a Menace to Our Civil and Political Liberties?"

"Our Eminent American Jurists" was the subject of an eloquent plea by Mr. Thornwell Caldwell.

In the fourth course was served ice cream, cake, wafers and blanched almonds. During this course, Mr. H. J. C. Capehart delivered a masterly oration on "The Class of 1913."

His discourse was so substantial with historical facts, treating of the peculiarities of human nature as applied to the members of the class, we think it wise that a copy be reserved as class literature, or that Mr. Capehart be made Historian in order that he has so beautifully begun.

Among the invited guests who spoke, special mention is made of Dr. C. W. Childs, of this city, and Messrs. F. W. Newman and L. A. Wilson.

The fifth and last course consisted of demitasse, cigars, Roman punch and sweet mints. While all were seated around the festive board, Mr. Scurlock, the noted photographer, entered upon the scene, and, of course, his work can be nothing short of excellence.

All regretted very much that Mr. Thompson, the class president, was not able to be present at what is thought to have been the greatest function of the present scholastic year.

New York Notes.
The Clef Club drew a record-breaking crowd to the Manhattan Casino on last Thursday night. It was estimated that between five and six thousand persons were present. It was certainly the largest gathering of colored people New York has ever witnessed.

This popular musical organization is under the leadership of a former Washingtonian, Mr. James Reese Europe, and is composed of 50 mandolins, 10 violins, 10 pianos, 25 cellos, 25 harp guitars, 2 banjos, 2 flutes, 1 organ, 5 bass violins, 2 clarinets, 3 trumpets, and a full set of the 57 varieties of Heinze's mixed pickles. The program was an excellent one in every way, although another Washington boy, Ford Dabney, carried off the second honors of the occasion with his beautiful composition, "Porto Rico," played by the full Clef Club symphony orchestra. Following is the program in full:

No. 1, Grand Opening Medley, entire company; 2, "That Long Lost Chord," Clarence Bush and chorus; 3, "Way Down in Georgia," Wm. Parquette and chorus; 4, "Bamboola" (a Samoan song, composed by Frederick Bryan), played by the Clef Club Symphony Orchestra; 5, "Tollin the Toledo," Paul Simmons and chorus; 6, "The Suffragette," by the author; that quaint comedian, Al Brown; 7, (a), "Love's Menu," (b), "Smyna," directed by the composer, Wm. H. Tyers, played by the Clef Club Symphony Orchestra; 8, "Dance La Ballet Grotesque," Henry S. Creamer and Jos. Grey; 9, "Pining" (duet), Henry Troy and Harvey White; 10, "Porto Rico" (composed by Ford Dabney, played by the Clef Club Symphony Orchestra; 11, "Exit," Geo. Henry; 12, "Don't Wake Me Up, I Am Dreaming," Henry Troy and octette; 13, (a), "A Jubilee," (b), "On Bended Knees" (composed by H. T. Burleigh), played by the Clef Club Symphony Orchestra; 14, Song and Wooden Shoe Dance, Irving Williams; 15, "Transmagnificandamulality," Percy Robinson and chorus; 16, "Lorraine Waltzes" (composed by James Reese Europe; dedicated to his mother), played for the first time by the Clef Club Symphony Orchestra; 17, "Grizzly Bear," Tom Bethel and chorus; 18, "She's Everything and Then Some More," Wm. F. Patrick and Henry S. Creamer; 19, "Lovie Joe," John Christian and chorus; 20, "The Separate Battalion" (composed by James Reese Europe, and dedicated to the High School Cadets of Washington, D. C.), played for the first time by the Clef Club Orchestra; 21, Closing chorus, "Darktown Is Out Tonight" (composed by Marion Cook), played and sung by the entire company, and 22, finale, "Clef Club March" (composed by James Reese Europe), played and sung by the entire company.

On last Monday evening, Inspector of Immigration Solomon Johnson, formerly of Washington, gave a christening reception at his residence in West 132d Street, for his little daughter, Margaret. This is the general Inspector's fourth child, and his friends are busy reminding him that inasmuch as he was made Inspector of Immigration by President Roosevelt, he seems to be determined to live up to all of the Roosevelt standards.

Collector Charles W. Anderson still continues to enjoy his share of public favor. Besides being present at the great reception given to Cardinal Gibbons by the Catholic Club, of this city, last week, and the banquet of the Unitarian Club at the Hotel Manhattan, he was elected a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the officers of which are J. Pierpont Morgan, president; Joseph H. Choate, vice-president, and Robert W. De Forest, secretary.

The Soap Box Club of Philadelphia, sent a delegation of 12, headed by Capt. Andrew Stevens and John Morris, to the Clef Club reception.

The recital given by Mr. R. Henri Strange at the residence of Mrs. John Gale on last Friday evening, was a huge success. Besides Mr. Strange, Mrs. Arthur H. Payne, contralto; Mr. William Wallace, baritone, and Mr. Melville Charlton, pianist, made up a program of more than ordinary merit.

Claude A. D. Lewis, a young colored man in this city, has invented an aeroplane, to be entered in the Gould Scientific American test on July 4. This machine is an evolution of the principle employed by the late Prof. Langley, in his steam-driven model.

Mr. Lewis has spent four years in the study of aerodynamics, and for the last year has been studying design and construction of internal combustion motors. Several experts here are very much interested in the new invention.

P. S. A. L. NOTES.
D. A. L. No. 10.
Mr. Nathaniel Guy has the 10th baseball schedule now on in full blast. Montgomery forfeited the first game to Stevens.

Stevens and Wilson schools will hook up Friday afternoon.

Summer School boys are training for track work and will have a good relay team.

D. A. L. No. 11.
Mott School defeated Bruce in the first of the series by a 10 to 4 score. Garnet won from Garrison in a close game.

Cook School athletes have been photographed, and one picture adorns the walls of Cook School, while Miss Shadd's office is graced by another.

Horad, of Mott School, is some pitcher.

Professional baseball knowledge and long experience makes Chairman J. F. Wilkerson a valuable man to the 11th Division.

D. A. L. No. 12.
Mr. Bernard Key, of Payne School, is an active worker and has run off his Division games in faultless style. Messrs. Chestnut, Ashton, Green and Fair have officiated in major league fashion.

Payne and Douglass are two classy small schools; each has registered victories over larger building teams.

Deanwood boys, coached by Mr. J. Chestnut, lost but one game to Jones School by a score of 10 to 8 in a good exhibition of the sport.

Abby Simmons's boys are small, but game to the core.

It is almost dollars to doughnuts that Jones School will win the Division championship. Jones's boys, by their efforts and the encouragement of the principal, have secured basket goals and a hall, and are preparing to become contenders for honors next Fall on the basketball court.

Bencker boys need to hustle to win the P. S. A. L. honors in the coming I. S. A. M. meet on May 30.

President James Walker's division is brimful of hardworking men and women. The athletic men outnumber by nearly two to one the teaching males in other divisions. Eugene Clark is a hustler, and the subordinate officials are equally first rate.

It is safe to say that Birney will be the premier team in that division after a set of close contests had been Garfield School and Literary.

The Garfield School Literary held its closing exercises for the season, May 10, in the Assembly Hall of the school.

An appreciative audience listened to a well arranged musical and literary program, which included (a) Cornet solo by Mr. Chase; (b), violin solo by Mr. Weir; (c), piano solo by Miss Ruffin; (d), soprano solo by Miss Caldwell; (e), orations by Masters Baddy and Dyer.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. Lucy E. Moten, who took as her subject, "Our Present Opportunities," in which she taught many practical lessons.

M. Beverly; Mr. A. W. Carroll, janitor.

Mr. Thompson.
It has come to The Bee that Recorder Henry Lincoln Johnson has succeeded in having Mr. R. W. Thompson transferred from the War Department to the Treasury Department. Correspondent Thompson will look after the interests of the Recorder in his several papers at his command. The place to which Mr. Thompson will be transferred will be a messenger's place, which will give him more time to devote to his correspondence. Recorder Johnson, it is said, feels confident that he has Correspondent Thompson transferred to a place more congenial to him and less laborious.

Microscopic Measurement.
The measurement of microscopic objects is done by rulings on glass, which are produced by wonderfully delicate machines. These rulings are constructed so as to accurately divide an inch or any other unit of measurement into any desired number of parts—as, for instance, one one-hundredth of an inch or one one-thousandth of an inch or even one ten-thousandth of an inch. The finest rulings thus far produced by any of the machines are at the rate of something like 200,000 to the inch. Some idea of the closeness of the ruled lines can be obtained from considering that a thousand such lines would occupy only the space included in the thickness of a sheet of ordinary writing paper.—New York American.
